

UNIVERSITY OF MISSOURI-COLUMBIA SCHOOL OF MEDICINE is accepting applications for the following positions: pediatric radiologist, interventional radiologist, mammographer, diagnostic radiologist, neuro radiologist, thoracic radiologist and musculoskeletal radiologist. We are a small, intimate radiology department dedicated to serve our patients and colleagues. Personal initiative to develop and tailor your position to fulfill the needs of the medical community is encouraged. You will have the opportunity to shape the growth of our radiologic service, educate our medical students, 25 residents, 3 fellows and conduct research. Equipment is state of the art. Columbia is a family oriented community of 91,700, ranked the #2 "Best Small City" by Money magazine. Columbia offers excellent educational, recreational and cultural opportunities. It is home to Stephens College and Columbia College, as well as the University of Missouri-Columbia, an academic leader in the Big 12 Conference. Excellent public and private schools serve the community. Kansas City, St. Louis, and the Lake of the Ozarks are all within a 2-hr drive. The radiology department performs 250,000 exams per year and serves the University of Missouri Hospital and Clinics, Ellis Fischel Cancer Research Center, Columbia Regional Hospital, Truman Veterans Administration Hospital, Cooper County Memorial Hospital, and a regional teleradiology network linking 15 additional hospitals. The Department also has a stand alone Imaging Center with MRI and US. Candidate must obtain clinical privileges and academic appointment at MU Health Care. Position title/rank are commensurate with applicant's clinical, teaching, and research experience: Assistant Professor to full Professor on tenure or clinical tracks. The salary and benefits package is extremely competitive.
